GUIDED TOUR AND WINE TASTING AT THE TORCHIATO WINERY

It is said that in 1600, a winemaker was forced to harvest grapes even though they were not fully ripe due to an early frost. He harvested the grapes and laid them out on racks in the barn. The following spring, he was surprised to find the grapes were very sweet but also hardened by the drying process. He then tried pressing them several times and, without much conviction, left the must to rest in small barrels. A year later, the first taste lit up the farmer's face as he realized he had discovered an extraordinary wine. Torchiato di Fregona was born.
